World Judo Tour

JUDO

GRAND PRIX
Düsseldorf, 2016

Marius L. VIZER
IJF President

The second Grand Prix of the year will be staged in the well-established IJF World Judo Tour host location of Dusseldorf.

Germany's Grand Prix is one of the strongest events on the circuit as judoka look to make their presence felt early in the season and in a country which is bursting with top-level talent and vibrant judo communities.

Dusseldorf hosts the second Grand Prix of 2016 following January's season-opening Havana Grand Prix in Cuba and we all expect the best of the best judoka in the world to be present in Germany for a vital competition.

I would like to thank German Judo Federation for their devotion to making this annual event a successful one and for supporting the International Judo Federation in all its endeavours. I would like to wish good luck to all the competing countries, athletes, coaches, officials and staff.

Mr. Peter Frese
President of the German Judo
Federation

Dear Judo friends,

The Olympic Games 2016 in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil cast their shadows before. All athletes and their staff are looking forward to this all-important event. Rio de Janeiro will mark a milestone in the careers of all Judo athletes.

I truly speak from conviction that the Judo Grand Prix in Düsseldorf will prepare all judokas on their road to Rio. During this event attended points can be collected to be qualified for the Olympic Games.

Düsseldorf as a city does not only offer outstanding Judo events. Apart from the sporting quality this city combines modernity and tradition. There one can find modern fair halls and traditional city areas.

The German Judo Federation is indeed proud to host this Grand Prix event again on February. As the last years have demonstrated, this prestigious event became more popular. Obvious reasons are sold out tickets and a high-class starting field of athletes. So I hope this event will be another great success in Grand Prix history.

We warmly welcome our Judo friends again in Düsseldorf to be a part of this major event. This year we expect an exceeding tournament again.

We sincerely await all athletes and delegations in Düsseldorf on February.
